

The New Zealand Society of Artists in Glass
in conjunction with David Bateman Publishing presents:

new zealand glass art

A sumptuous celebration of glass art in New Zealand today.

Featuring 375 breathtaking full colour photographs of recent work from 115 of New Zealand's best studio glass artists working across a wide range of processes and techniques.

Accompanying the superb images, are brief introductory essays describing the early days of New Zealand glass, from its industrial beginnings that lead into the development of the studio glass movement, and the influences that define current practices.

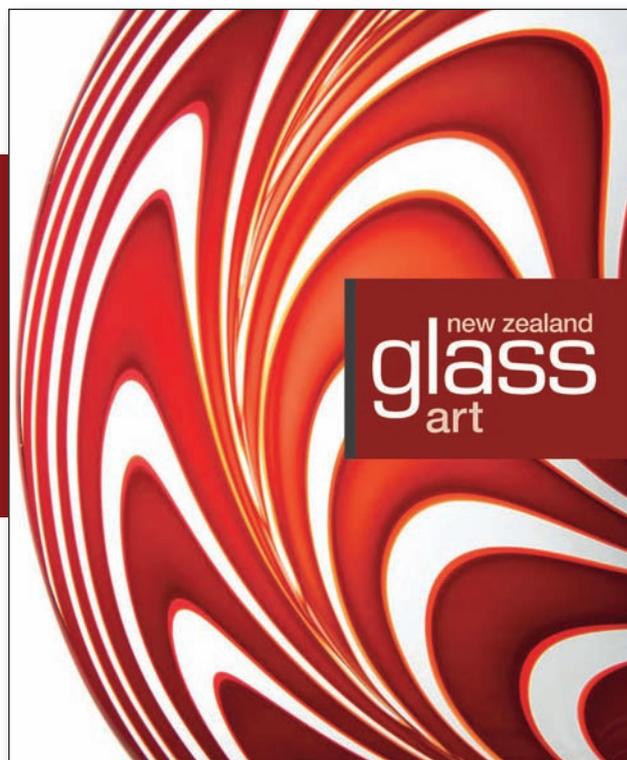

There is also a fascinating explanation of the properties of glass and the different glass working techniques, from cold glass fabrication to warm glass-working processes: lost wax kiln casting, fusing and slumping, to the intense drama of glass blowing and working with furnace glass and fire.

The scope and diversity of the work is apparent through the 375 photographs, and it is hoped that this book will inspire, encourage and foster new interest in glass, and promote a recognition and understanding of the medium.

Published to coincide with 30 year celebrations of the New Zealand Society of Artists in Glass Inc (NZSAG) in October 2010.
